P my heart is saddened and holidays won't be the same looking forward to parties at our mutual friends. Truth be told I really like hanging out at Billy's house because there would be an offset chance that we'd get to hang out and talk and just get to know each other as human beings and respect each other and enjoy company and have a fellowship and I miss you and I'll always regret not having more time with you forever my dream girl Shelby I love you forever you are always on a pedestal in my eyes and now you're on that high mountain and I'm jealous of that mountain on high

“ My deepest condolences to Shelby's entire family. I feel that I'm still in a state of shock. We grew up together and had a wonderful childhood. Lots of great memories. Sleepovers, football games, swimming. Shelby was a great water polo player! We had many good times in church, helping in the church nursery st first baptist. We took French together in high school. We parted ways during high-school and in our young adult lives we reconnected and she apologized after a silly falling out we had. I admired that. How brave I thought. That after so many years to take responsibility is not easy. Over the years we reconnected and talked up until 3 days before her death. I will miss her and I kick myself for not taking time to meet her coffee or lunch like I wanted. Many years ago when my eldest daughter lost her first tooth she wanted to give her tooth fairy money and made my daughter feel special. The night I found out she passed my daughter lost her last childhood tooth. I got chills and I know she is in heaven. The most important thing is I remember her love of the lord and that is what gives me comfort. She was very beautiful and loved her friends and family. Life will not be the same.

“ Shelby and I could sit and talk for hours and often we would when we would find ourselves in each other's company and our friend Billy's get togethers over 5 years that we talked and I just thought she was absolutely beautiful and gorgeous and perfect and flawless and all of life's imperfective ways God I wish I would have had more time to hang out with you he's always hug each other hello and hug each other goodbye cuz that was always the ambience and the aura at Billy's. It's been years since we got to talk on Halloween I miss you and I'm sorry that , sorry that you're gone ...and I love you and I always will remember you miss you cherish you think about you and be sad that you're ....I hate saying, g o n e. There's so much more I can say but there's no more I can say without falling to pieces and crying and bearing testimony of the unfairness and how finite life is. Forever star just out of reach I guess not much changes from here on Earth and the afterlife because I always held you on a pedestal and with tremble with tremble at the at the slight touch or sight of you just amazed by your presence. My condolences to the father and family and friends of course. Sincerely cordially Mr Michael Sharp
